

Armed Bandit Holds Up Local Service Station Employee; Steals $80

Henry Herring, Fairfield, Forced To Turn Over Day's Receipts Of Francis Service
Station To Unmasked Robber; Loots
Cash Register And Tin Box.

STATE POLICE AND LOCAL OFFICIALS GET DESCRIPTION

An armed and unmasked bandit held up Henry Herring, Fairfield, at the Francis service station, Buford avenue, Saturday evening, and escaped with the day's receipts of the service station and refreshment stand, approximately $80.

Between 10:15 and 10:30 o'clock, Saturday night, while Herring was preparing to close up the place for the night, the stickup man entered the door of the service station, pointed a revolver at Herring's mid-section and ordered him to "stick 'em up."

Herring obeyed the robber's command, and in the next breath, the intruder ordered the service station employee to open the cash register, which Herring did. The robber then ordered Herring to lie on the floor while he rifled the cash register.

"What did you do with the rest of the money?" the man inquired, referring to a small tin box which the stickup man apparently saw Herring carry from the refreshment stand to the service station office.

Herring told the man he put the money in a safe in the rear of the office. The man then ordered Herring to his feet and ordered him to open the safe. The safe had not yet been locked, and Herring pulled open the door. Afterward, the robber ordered Herring to lie down again while he helped himself to the contents of the tin box containing the refreshment stand receipts.

Police notified Before leaving the place, the stick-up man warned Herring not to move until he called, but as soon as the man left the service station, Herring arose, and got a glimpse of the man running toward the Western Maryland railroad tracks behind the service station.

Herring immediately notified the state police and local authorities, who searched the vicinity of the service station thoroughly, but were unable to find any trace of the robber.

The man was described by Herring as between 35 and 40 years old, about five feet seven inches tall and weighing between 180 and 190 pounds. He wore a dark suit and a grey cap. The man's shirt collar was open and he wore no necktie. He was dark complexioned.

Bought Soft Drink The robber was seen at the Francis refreshment stand earlier in the evening. He purchased a bottle of soft drink. Later he was seen at Franz Grimm's service station on the opposite side of Buford avenue, west of the Reading railroad line to Round Top.

Persons in the vicinity said there were two men hanging around the neighborhood from early Saturday evening, and a short time before the hold-up occurred, C. A. Fox, third ward constable, was called and endeavored to locate the pair, but was unsuccessful.

Charles Hummelbaugh, night man at Grimm's service station, saw the hold-up man enter the Francis service station, and a short time later saw him leave the place and run toward the Western Maryland railroad tracks. He told another man with him to go to the Francis place and see what was wrong.

The hold-up man had his time well chosen. He waited until Mrs. Richard Francis, owner of the station, and Paul Kebel, another employee, left the place before making the daring stick-up. Mrs. Francis and Kebel left the place about ten minutes before the robbery was committed.

CAROLYN LOUISE COLE

The Carolyn Louise Cole Memorial library at the Marjorie Webster school of expression, Washington, D. C., has been founded by Mr. and Mrs. James C. Cole, of The Narrows, in memory of their daughter, Carolyn Louise, who died of injuries received in an automobile accident, near Washington, April 23.

Mr. and Mrs. Cole founded the memorial library with a substantial gift to which will be added contributions from alumnae and other friends of the school. Mr. and Mrs. Cole did not divulge the amount of their gift to the Washington institution.

Miss Marjorie Webster, head of the Washington institution, issued the following statement:

"Miss Cole was a member of the May class of 1932. Her sudden calling left many of her friends greatly saddened but these will be happy to know of the memorial library and its usefulness to hundreds of young women students in the capital.

"Carolyn Louise Cole was a young woman of charm and beauty. She was endowed with all the qualities that make a young woman, enthusiastic, lovable and sympathetic. She was a sincere and loyal friend. She was a leader, a student of great ability and keen mind. It is appropriate that to such a young woman, a library should be dedicated.

"A beautiful art reproduction of Miss Cole, 22x36 feet, will be placed on the center of the arch through which one passes upon entering the library. To all future students may this Carolyn Louise Cole library be a spur to higher intellectual attainment and instill a desire to 'be still and learn.'"

40 BONUSEERS "BREAK" FROM LOCAL CAMPERS

Depart For Homes In West Aboard Four
State Trucks This Morning.

ACCUSE LEADERS OF "MISCONDUCT"

Forty members of the local B. E. F., in camp near the national cemetery here, struck back at certain leaders who they claim "have been under the influence of liquor" and broke away from the encamped contingent and left for their homes in the middle west and west this morning.

In four state trucks furnished from the local highway maintenance department the 40 men, escorted by two state highway patrolmen, headed across the state to the Ohio state line where they expect to be furnished with Ohio transportation to continue their trek westward.

Thirty-seven of the men gathered at the court house this morning and at 9 o'clock boarded the trucks. The caravan moved out to the camp where three other bonuseers joined the contingent and started westward.

Councilmen C. W. Epley, W. G. Weaver, D. C. Stallsmith and C. Ray Rupp, accompanied the contingent to the camp this morning before the caravan headed west.

Issue Statement

Before the bonuseers left, a prepared statement was presented to reporters. The statement follows:

We, the members of the B. E. F., who are leaving your community today, wish to express our sincere thanks for the cooperation which you have shown us in our stay here.

We have tried to keep down the dissension and breaking down of the morale of the camp, but it has proven a failure because most of the drinking lately has been done by men in command.

Yesterday (Sunday) morning all members in camp voted to accept the resignation of the officers who have been under the influence of liquor and after voting them out of office we find that they are still in control of the lease of the property. Therefore, in order to stop an open break and not get a bad name for ourselves in the community we have decided to leave.

Do not hold us responsible for last night's disastrous affair, as we were not a party toward it.

Thanking you again, we remain, Roy Olson, Regimental Chairman.

E. E. Eurich and G. H. Kurech, Members of National Board.

Joseph L. Bose, Member of Regimental Board.

F. T. Sullivan. One of the spokesmen of the group rebuked leaders of the local contingent for their conduct of the camp. "We have been accused of being Reds after we had demanded (Continued on Page Two)

Member of Bonus Camp Killed In Auto Crash After "Drinking Orgy"

George H. Bowers, 37, Lemoyne, Has Half Of Head And Face Battered Off When Car, Out Of Control, Sideswipes Fence At 6:30 O'clock Sunday Evening.

DOZEN COMPANIONS LODGED IN JAIL PENDING QUESTIONING

His head bashed against a fence post when the driver of the car lost control on the road from the Barlow picnic grounds to the Emmitsburg road, Sunday evening at 6:30 o'clock, George H. Bowers, about 37 years old, of Lemoyne, a member of the Gettysburg B. E. F. camp for two weeks, was instantly killed.

The fatality occurred while Bowers and several companions were returning to Gettysburg from a Sunday afternoon picnic, which culminated in a "drinking orgy," according to state police, at the picnic grounds.

As a result of the fatal accident, state police arrested a dozen companions of Bowers, all members of the local B. E. F. camp, and committed them to the Adams county jail for the night. This afternoon, the officers expected to question the twelve prisoners to determine who was driving the machine in which Bowers was riding and who furnished the liquor for the outing.

The entire left side of Bowers' face and head was bashed away and he is disfigured almost beyond recognition.

Bowers, riding in the rumble seat of a roadster owned by Raymond Horn, of Steubenville, Ohio, was almost decapitated when the machine sideswiped a post fence along the road from the picnic grounds to the Emmitsburg road. The accident occurred midway between the picnic grounds and the Emmitsburg road.

The driver of the roadster apparently lost control of the car while traveling at high speed. The machine ran off the left side of the road and sideswiped a fence post. The force of this impact is believed to have caused Bowers to be thrown partly out of the rumble seat in which he was riding and his head struck a second fence post a short distance from the first.

Body Wrapped in Blanket Afterward, according to the officers, the driver of the machine turned the car around and drove back to the woods where the machine was found parked with Bowers, wrapped in a blanket, in the rumble seat. The officers said another man, whom they described as "dead drunk," was lying in the rumble seat across Bowers' body.

Eleven other men were found in the woods in various stages of intoxication, state police said. One man, Fayette Whited, of Bowling Green, Kentucky, who suffered an injury to his hand, was removed from the scene of the accident to the Warner hospital before the state police arrived. Lated Whited was committed to the Adams county jail along with eleven of his "buddies."

Coroner Notified The first inking local authorities had of the fatality came with the notification of Dr. Edgar A. Miller, Adams county coroner, by A. D. Welkert, Gettysburg R. 3, that a dead man was in a car at the Barlow picnic woods. The motor patrol substation here was notified that there had been an automobile accident and one of the patrolmen went to the picnic grounds. As soon as he saw the victim and the others in the woods, he notified the state police, who immediately took charge of the investigation.

Sergeant Russell W. Frutchey and Trooper Brandt went to the picnic woods and brought the bonuseers to the Adams county jail. Doctor Miller released the body to H. B. Bender and Son, Gettysburg undertakers, where the body was taken.

Men Are Not Questioned State police made no effort to question any of the twelve men after they were brought to jail because, the officers said, "none was sober enough to give an account of the doings at the picnic woods during the afternoon."

Eldon J. Munce, commander of the camp, and Albert Woods, chief of staff, informed the state police at the jail that they did not know where the men had procured the liquor partaken at the party. Munce said he did not know the men had planned a party, but Woods said he heard indirectly there was to be a party. Woods said he told the men not to do their drinking at camp.

Walter H. Mastin, a member of the camp, who was questioned at the jail after midnight this morning, told Sergeant Frutchey and Trooper Brandt that he was at the picnic woods on Sunday afternoon, but did not see any drinking. He said he left the place about 5:30 o'clock to return to camp here.

Second Machine on Grounds Mastin told the officers that besides Horn's machine, a light sedan, (Continued on Page Two)

NEW TRUCK FOR FIRE COMPANY

Firemen Remodel And Equip
New Piece Of Fire Fighting Apparatus.

A new service and equipment truck will be added to the Gettysburg Fire company fire-fighting apparatus this week to replace the old service truck that has become obsolete.

The entire expense involved in remodeling and equipping the old service truck into a comparatively new piece of fire-fighting apparatus was done at the expense of the fire company. The borough council was not asked for an appropriation. The money was secured from the apparatus fund of the company.

This fund is raised through donations from those people who, suffering fire losses that required the services of the local company, donated a voluntary sum to the company.

New Equipment The new piece of equipment has been remodeled, repainted and fitted with new equipment. It carries six, five-gallon tanks, each with a double-nozzle, hand-pumped to fight grass or woods fires that do not require heavier equipment. Each tank and nozzle will be handled by one fireman. The attached hose will shoot a straight or spray stream. Four Burnell gas or smoke masks, similar to those used in the U. S. army, are added pieces of equipment. Six steel, grass-fire brooms, large axes, crow-bars and 500 feet of hose will also be carried. Pomite tanks will also be added on the new truck. 100 gallons of fomite, five gallons of which manufacture 100 gallons of fomite spray, will be contained in the tanks. Chemical tanks will also be part of the new truck's equipment. Electric hand lamps are other added pieces.

Approximately $600 was required to remodel, equip and repaint the new truck. William Eckenrode did the painting and Joseph E. Codori did the repair work.

Select Successor To Beers Sept. 14

A candidate to fill the remainder of the term of the late Congressman E. M. Beers, Mt. Union, will be selected by republicans of the old eighteenth congressional district at a meeting September 14 at Lewis-town. Announcement of the date was made Saturday by the republican state committee.

Benjamin K. Focht is the republican nominee for the full term which will begin next March.

Representatives from Franklin county will attend the meeting although the county now is a part of the twenty-second district. The reapportionment act placed Franklin in the twenty-second district with Adams and York counties, but because it was a part of the eighteenth district when Beers was chosen, it will have a part in selecting the candidate for the short term.

Port Menier, Anticosti Island, Quebec, Aug. 29 (AP)—The flying family of Hutchinsons, flying leisurely in a big cabin plane from New York to Europe, via Labrador, Greenland and Iceland, began their fifth day here today. They were waiting for better weather before hopping off for Labrador.

Mayor Walker's Brother Expires

Saranac Lake, New York, Aug. 29 (AP)—George F. Walker, New York city insurance broker and youngest brother of Mayor James J. Walker, died early today in a private sanitarium, where he had been undergoing treatment for tuberculosis for two months.

He was 47 years old. He was a member of the firm of Hughes and Walker, insurance brokers, of Manhattan.

New York City, N. Y., Aug. 29 (AP)—The Walker ouster hearing will not be resumed in Albany until Thursday at least.

Governor Roosevelt postponed the hearing today until after the funeral of the mayor's brother, George Walker, who died at Saranac Lake today. The funeral will be held here Wednesday or Thursday.

Pinchot Is Not Senate Candidate

Milford, Aug. 29 (AP)—Governor Gifford Pinchot, of Pennsylvania, stated today he would not run for United States senator, in opposition to James J. Davis.

The governor's statement, made at his home, was in answer to speculation on the part of political observers, as to what he would do following his demand last week that Davis be asked to withdraw as a candidate for re-election.

VON PAPEN BARS HITLER'S NAZIS

German Chancellor Delivers Bitter Attack On Fascist Group In Germany.

Munster, Germany, Aug. 29 (AP)—Chancellor Franz von Papen, addressing an assembly of Westphalian farmers Sunday, thrust aside all possibility of receiving Adolf Hitler's national socialists into a coalition government.

His speech was a bitter attack on the "impulsive recklessness" of the fascist chief, and in the course of an outline of the present government's economic program he indicated unmistakably that the cabinet had no intention of relinquishing power for months to come.

This speech had been awaited for days and the audience was eager for the official version of the government program, but before he touched upon economics the chancellor turned a broadside against the nazis.

Condemns Nazi Policy

Referring to heavy penalties recently imposed by special courts for political violence, he declared: "I recognize no principle of justice which is usurped by one class or party as an instrument of combat. That is a Marxist conception which I reject even if it is advocated by the nazis, for it is a blow in the face of every German and an offense against the Christian conception of justice."

"The impulsive recklessness manifested by the nazi leader is ill suited to his claims for leadership in government. I do not accord him the right to consider that the minority which follows his orders of itself constitutes the German nation nor the right to look upon all other Germans as outlaws."

Force if Necessary

"If in opposition to Hitler I advocate a state based on justice, a real commonwealth of the people and an authoritative conduct of government, it is I and not he who pursues the aim which millions of his followers have yearned for in their fight against party domination, arbitrariness and injustice."

40 Bonusees

Investigations into certain activities, the spokesman said, "and then the leaders attempted to make it uncomfortable for us."

"When we voted the leaders out of office, Woods asked the men supporting him to stand to one side. He then appeared on the rostrum and said he held the lease on the property and ordered us out. There was nothing for us to do but to leave. We would have left anyway because we could not tolerate the actions of the leaders any more."

Investigating charges that certain leaders had made malicious statements purporting to have come from supporters of the B. E. F., it was revealed that Vernon C. Butler, of Detroit, to whom a query had been sent, replied by letter "not to take seriously anything that he (Munce) might say because he has the mentality of an eight-year-old boy."

The local contingent has dwindled to less than 100.

The bonusees who have been sleeping in Xavier hall here will vacate Wednesday morning. The parochial school will undergo repairs for the opening of the 1932-33 term, scheduled for September 6. The entire school will be renovated, fumigated and given a general overhauling before the classes resume. This work will start Wednesday morning.

Spokesman for the group leaving today also accused leaders of the local camp with showing partiality in the distribution of food donated to the camp asserting "they kept the best for themselves and dished out small portions of the balance to the rest of us."

Munce denied all the charges of the group and said he had "cleaned out the gang on Sunday."

Annapolis, Aug. 29 (AP)—Under the leadership of Weyland Kerns, who acted as judge advocate of the bonus army in Washington, a group of veterans have returned to the bonus camp at Waterbury, Maryland.

The ten former soldiers are making preparations to spend the winter in Maryland. They now are clearing the timber from the land and expect to make enough money selling the wood in Baltimore to pay for their food and clothing.

Soviet Group-Education Plan Gives Way To Individualism

Moscow, Aug. 29 (AP)—On the eve of the new school term, opening September 1, the central committee of the communist party has issued an edict marking a significant departure from the communist theory of education followed since the beginning of the soviet regime.

Hereafter the work of individual students will be emphasized, the theory of group instruction to be abandoned in elementary and secondary schools.

Following the principle of individual responsibility established in industry, the new ruling renounces the system modeled upon the so-called Dalton plan, formulated by work.

Young Aviator Captures Trophy

Cleveland, Aug. 29 (AP)—Felix W. Zelcer, of New York, Sunday became king of the men and women who fly for fun, when he dropped his speedy little biplane to earth at Cleveland airport at the finish of the handicap race from Roosevelt field, New York.

Only sixteen of the original starting field of twenty-one sportsmen pilots finished the four-lap dash for the William B. Leeds trophy and $2,000 in prizes. John Wright, of Utica, New York, piloting a monoplane, finished second in the point standings.

C. M. Taylor, of Little Rock, Arkansas, was the only one of the simon pures to cross the finish line in the second annual amateur air-pilots' cruise, winning the trophy established by Charles Lanier Lawrence, president of the Aeronautical Chamber of Commerce. Five entrants started.

The Lawrence and Leeds Trophy races were run together, having been scheduled to finish here Saturday afternoon but delayed until Sunday because of bad weather which grounded the fliers for the night at Wheeling, West Virginia.

STRIKE CLOSES TEXTILE PLANTS

Thousands Of British Weavers Go On Strike Against 10 Per Cent Wage Cut.

Manchester, England, Aug. 29 (AP)—Sunday was the gloomiest Sabbath the north country has known for years as thousands of striking textile workers faced the fact that they would not plod their accustomed way to the machine today.

With the entire weaving section, involving upward of 200,000 workers, engaged in the walkout, the ominous fact was that the equally large spinning section also much make a decision as to whether to take a ten per cent wage cut or quit their jobs.

Vote Within Ten Days

They will vote on the matter within the next ten days. Even if the spinners decide to accept the slash, observers commented, it can hardly help them long because without the weavers the entire industry must slow down and finally cease. Lancashire has no use for spun produce that cannot be woven.

Would Affect 500,000

The total number of workers threatened with unemployment unless the situation is relieved is close to 500,000. The only ray of hope lies in the return of Sir Horace Wilson, the government's chief industrial adviser, from Ottawa.

His success as an arbiter in past cotton disputes has put his name forward as a logical envoy when one is requested, although there was nothing official to indicate the government's entry into the conflict.

Mother Drowns With Her Two Girls; 1 Escapes

Tuscaloosa, Alabama, Aug. 29 (AP)—Mrs. William A. Simmons, 25, wife of a watch repair man, led her three small daughters into a lake near here last night under pretense of showing them "how to baptize," and drowned two of them and herself, but the other jerked loose and found refuge on an island.

The survivor, Louise, 10, was found on the island an hour later by a motorist who stopped at the lake to fill his radiator. She directed the searchers in recovering the body of her mother and two sisters.

The girl said her mother, a seller of religious literature, drove with them from their home sixteen miles from the lake, and waded out into the water with Dorothy, 8, and Marjorie, 6, in her arms. Louise said she was led along by her hand before Mrs. Simmons and the other girls sank, although her mother tried to drag her under.

"MA" FERGUSON LEADS IN TEXAS

Former Woman Governor Holds Margin Of 493 For Re-election.

Dallas, Texas, Aug. 29 (AP)—Returns of the Texas election today from 251 out of 254 counties in the state, including 158 complete, showed Governor R. Sterling leading Mrs. Miriam A. (Ma) Ferguson by 3,007 votes for the democratic gubernatorial nomination.

Dallas, Texas, Aug. 29 (AP)—The dramatic effort of Mrs. Miriam A. (Ma) Ferguson to regain the governor's office in Texas, approached a climax as she ran neck and neck with Governor R. S. Sterling, seeking re-election.

Reputed by a majority of the voters of the state in 1926, when she sought a second term after serving as Texas' first woman governor, and defeated again two years ago, Mrs. Ferguson came back strong in Saturday's democratic run-off primary. When more than 900,000 ballots had been tabulated she was 493 votes ahead of Governor Ross S. Sterling, with his outcome still in doubt.

Result Of Count To Date

With returns from 251 counties, 143 of which were complete, tabulated by the Texas election bureau, the vote was:

Mrs. Ferguson 459,898

Sterling 459,405

Nothing like it ever had happened in Texas politics. Accustomed to bitter contests for the democratic gubernatorial nomination, tantamount to election, many veteran observers had anticipated a close race, but few had expected what amounted to a deadlock.

Firemen's Treasurer Sentenced To Jail

Chambersburg, Aug. 29.—George M. Butler, 42, of 436 East Washington street, Saturday pleaded guilty in the county courts to embezzlement of funds of the Friendship Fire company and was sentenced by Judge Watson R. Davidson to a term of one to three years in the county jail. A $100 fine and costs of prosecution were also imposed.

The former silk mill superintendent admitted, by his plea, embezzlement of $869.94 while serving as treasurer of the fire company, an office he held for ten years.

Butler did not take the witness stand, and the only witness called by the commonwealth was George W. Klee, one of the trustees of the firemen's organization.

Maryland Fair Opens September 13

Hagerstown, Aug. 29.—Final plans for the seventy-seventh annual fair exhibition and racing meet of the Hagerstown fair association, scheduled for the week of September 13-17 inclusive, were perfected at a recent meeting of the board of directors and predictions were freely made that the 1932 fair would be the largest and most successful in the association's history.

The five-day race meet, with seven races daily, will be the main attraction to followers of the sport of kings.

Among the new attractions this year will be an exhibit of live fish and game, native to Maryland waters, by the Maryland state game department and the United States bureau of fisheries and biological survey. This exhibit will take up an entire building.

Bigler Loses To Arendtsville

The Arendtsville baseball team performed a "run-around" at the expense of the Biglerville nine at Arendtsville, Saturday afternoon. When the Arendtsville players finished running the bases, they had rolled up the impressive score of 26 to 1.

Wierman pitched the entire game for the victors, while Sadler, who started on the mound for Biglerville, was relieved in the fifth inning by Charles Raffensperger. Snyder caught for Arendtsville and Carey for Biglerville.

Arendtsville piled up 26 hits while Biglerville had 8. Biglerville had four errors to two for Arendtsville.

State police said they believed there was a connection between the robbery at the Francis service station, Buford avenue, Stourday night, and the drinking party on Sunday afternoon. The officers expressed the opinion that the proceeds of the robbery may have been used by the men to purchase the liquor imbibed at the Sunday afternoon joust. The officers are conducting their investigation along lines to determine whether there is any connection between the two events.

Cumberland Citizen Speaks For STEWART'S NEW PRESCRIPTION

Mr. Walter H. Riehl, 623 Madison street, Cumberland, a very well known citizen of Cumberland who works for the B. & O. R. R., 42 years old, married and a member of Union 539, said: "I suffered with constipation and bilious spells. I did not rest at night, and had little or no appetite. I had a bad taste in my mouth, and constant headaches. I have taken 2 bottles of Stewart's New Prescription and the results have been surprising. I did not think one could get so much benefit in so short a time from a Tonic. I have tried many medicines but they did me no good. Stewart's New Prescription did the work. I have gained 2½ lbs., rest well at night. The biliousness and bad headaches have passed, my appetite is great, and I am glad to use this medicine." The above statement is from a well known citizen of Cumberland. We hear about the same many times every day. If Stewart's New Prescription has helped so many, why should it not help you? If you will only come to People's Drug Store, Gettysburg, Pa., and ask for the Stewart's specialist all will be explained to you. You are invited to come.—Advertisement.

Nothing Venture

by Patricia Wentworth

SYNOPSIS: Just after marrying Jervis Weare and accepting $10,000 for it, Nan Forsyth sees the photograph of a man she has hated and feared for ten years in Jervis' room. She believes the man tried to murder Jervis. Nan's marriage tears her heart, for she loves Jervis dearly yet knows he considers her only as a means of saving the fortune left him by his grandfather from Rosamund Carew, his former fiancée.

Chapter 7

A LIFE ENDANGERED

Cynthia was married on August 20 and on the 22nd she sailed with Frank Walsh for Australia. He was to be there for six months and then return to take up the junior partnership which Cynthia's ten thousand dollars had made possible. Nan went to the boat to see them off. She was dutifully kissed by Frank, and rather perfunctorily by Cynthia. She walked back to a room strewn with all the odds and ends which had not been worth taking to Australia, with the feeling that she had come to a dead end. She was married, and Cynthia was married. She had lost her job. Cynthia didn't want her any more. Jervis Weare certainly didn't want her.

She tidied the room, and then sat down to face the future. She had been married six days, but it was the first time she had really had time to think. To get Cynthia married, to buy Cynthia's outfit, and to get her off by the same boat as Frank had taken every bit of her thought and time and energy. It was characteristic of Cynthia that she had not even asked what Nan was going to do. For the moment her consciousness was so saturated with Frank as to be unable to take in anything else. She had gone as completely, if not as irrevocably, into another world as if she had died.

Some day she would come back. Some day she would probably want Nan again. But Nan was not able to derive a great deal of comfort from this thought. She had mothered Cynthia ever since Cynthia was born and she, a baby of three, had cuddled the new baby in her small strong arms.

When she sat on the edge of the bed for about half an hour she got up, put on her coat, and went out. It had become clear to her that she must have a job—and jobs do not just drop into your lap; you have to go out and wrestle for them.

When she had been to three agencies, she felt better. None of the agencies had anything to offer her, but one of them had asked whether she would care to make a voyage to South America in charge of children. She toyed with the idea over a cup of tea. It was not without its charm. Very, very badly she felt the need of someone to look after. What she really wanted to do was to look after Jervis Weare. She wondered if he was sleeping better. She wondered if he had left town. She wondered who darned his socks. She wondered if he was very much in love with Rosamund Carew. She wondered where the tall, fair Rosamund was now, in town, or in the country? It would be quite easy to find out. She knew Rosamund's address well enough, since she had often taken letters to her for Mr. Page.

She paid her bill at the tea-room and walked slowly along. It would be quite easy for her to walk down East Sixty-fifth street. It was, of course, very improbable that she would learn anything by doing so. It was irrational to expect to learn anything. It was irrational to want to see Rosamund.

She walked through Sixty-fifth street. The door of No. 29 was shut, and the blinds were down. When Nan had walked to the end of the block, she turned back. This made it necessary for her to pass No. 29 again. She stood still and looked at the house. Something came to her from it—she didn't know quite what it was, but she didn't like it.

As this thought went through her mind, she saw a taxi coming up the street towards her. The taxi stopped in front of No. 29. Without conscious plan, she whisked round behind the taxi and was in time to see Rosamund Carew emerge and mount the steps which led to No. 29. Nan received an impression of height, grace, and brilliance. Rosamund went up the steps, and a man got out of the car and followed her.

Nan leaped sideways against the taxi. She tried to step back, and the pavement lifted under her foot. That man was Robert Leonard. After ten years, she was just as sure of that as she was that when she had seen him last he had just struck down Jervis Weare and left him to drown.

Nan stood behind the car, waiting for her strength to return. In an instant, Robert Leonard ran down the steps. Nan saw him for a moment in profile, and then the car was between them. He wore a light felt hat and a grey suit. His face was florid and tanned. He had a small fair clipped mustache and a straight line of light eyebrow. The eyelids beneath it had a crumpled look.

Nan pressed close up against the car. She did not want Robert Leonard to see her. He must be a cousin of Miss Carew's—she remembered that Rosamund was Rosamund Veronica Leonard—there was nothing odd that he should be with her. And then Robert's voice:

"It's the four-fifteen all right. You'll have to hurry. Let his come out of the ferry house and get well away. He's sure to walk—he has a craze for exercise."

"And supposin' he takes a taxi—what then?" This was the driver, in a hoarse, throaty voice.

"You must do the best you can," said Leonard impatiently. He turned away. The driver's voice followed him.

"Look here, cap'n, I'm not so keen on this job as I was."

Leonard turned round again. "Twenty-five hundred dollar's twenty-five hundred dollar's," said the hoarse, complaining voice.

"And jail's jail."

"Well," said Leonard carelessly, "you needn't touch it if you don't want to."

"Oh, I'll do it," said the driver. "I'm a man of my word, I am."

Nan heard the whirr of the starter. Her knees were shaking. The taxi began to move. It slipped away, leaving her shelterless.

Robert Leonard, with his back to her, was mounting the steps of No. 29.

Nan makes a mad dash to save a life, tomorrow, and meets an important person.

HOME WORKERS GET LOW WAGES

Weekly Earnings Of Home Workers Average $3.60 Per Week.

A survey of 1,500 families carrying on industrial work in their homes revealed that one-fourth of those families had no members employed in any other activity and that the average weekly earnings from home work were $3.60. Hourly earnings varied from two to fifty cents, the average being twelve cents.

The survey was conducted by the bureau of women and children of the department of labor and industry which supervises and regulates home work under licenses issued to approximately 1,200 industrial firms in Pennsylvania.

More than half of the home workers in Pennsylvania are in Philadelphia; about one-third in the Lancaster district and the remainder are scattered throughout the state. On June 1, 1932, more than 8,000 families were engaged in that activity.

Report Findings

The survey of the 1,500 home working families is said by Beatrice McConnell, director of the bureau, to indicate that such families feel more seriously the effects of a depression period than other families in a community. Forty-seven per cent of the normally employed members of the home working families visited in Philadelphia were unemployed, according to the statement, a much higher proportion of unemployment than has been found for all normally employed workers in the city as a whole. In nearly one-fourth of the home working families interviewed, children under sixteen were engaged in the home work process. The proportion of unemployment was much greater in home working families in Philadelphia than in similar families in the smaller towns in other sections of the state.

A report on industrial home work in Pennsylvania will be issued in the near future by the bureau.

Present industrial conditions causing close buying, sharp competition and rush orders, in certain industries, are bringing about an increased tendency to violation of the woman's law and the child labor laws, according to Miss McConnell. Strict enforcement of the laws regulating industrial home work is essential.

My Beauty Hint

By Kay Francis

When tanned or sunburned, I use rouge and powder sparingly. The tint the sun gives one is color enough, I think, although if one insists on rouge, an orange shade is better than a bright pink or red. Powder base looks artificial over tan, and the powder should be used only to take off shine rather than to cover up blemishes.

As to lipstick—emphatically yes! Carefully applied, in a dark red to blend with my brownness, I find in my own case it centers the attention and forces the lighter red of the sunburn into the background.

By Constance Cummings

Exercise that puts one through a real work-out is my idea of a good beauty-builder.

That is why I like tennis—so well that when I'm not working on a picture I play regularly three or four times a week. Nothing makes one feel more fit than a swift game of tennis. Tennis is excellent for the circulation.

The game, followed by a cold shower and perhaps a good boiled dinner (I for one do not diet), makes me feel fine.

By Frances Dee

When the swimming season is over, many women wish to get rid of the sun-tan acquired during hot hours on the beaches. I have an old-fashioned recipe which I have found helps me to remove both a tan and freckles.

I mix enough buttermilk with sufficient cornmeal to create a paste. Then I apply the paste to my face, neck and arms.

I permit it to remain on for 15 minutes, keeping it moist with the buttermilk, then let the mixture dry into a mask for at least 20 minutes. Next I remove it with warm water. I have found three applications will make my skin much fairer.

Wants Cash, Not Stamps, For Fees

Remittances to the department of state must be by cash, check or money order. Postage stamps cannot be accepted.

The department of state charges 25 cents for each search by the corporation bureau. Copies of the election laws cost 10 cents, and a like charge is made by the election bureau for each copy of petitions over the number actually required. For the first service about one-fifth, and for the last two nearly one-half of the remittances have been postage stamps. When stamps are received the department must find a purchaser or send them back. When returned as much as nine cents in postage may be spent to complete a 10-cent transaction.

PAMPERED PELICAN COLONY FORGETS ART OF FISHING

Santa Monica, Cal. (AP)—Fed for years by surplus fish caught by coast fishermen, pelicans of Santa Monica bay are believed to have forgotten the art of catching their own food.

A scarcity of fish this season made it impossible to continue the habit of feeding the big-billed birds. It was noticed the pelican colony languished and grew thin.

A number of pelicans from sections where they were unpampered then were imported and by watching the new arrivals dive for their food, fishermen say, the local colony again is learning the art.

DENIES JAPAN PLANS TO ADD NEW DOMINION

Youthful Chinese Emperor Fights Against Becoming A "Puppet."

By James A. Mills

Changchun, Manchuria (AP)—Henry Pu-Yi, once, as the infant Hsuan Tung, occupant of the Dragon Throne of China and now "chingcheng" or "chief executive" of Manchoukuo, the world's youngest republic, does not believe that Japan intends to annex his new realm.

He indignantly denied that the infant state is a puppet of Japanese expansion policy, saying:

"If Manchoukuo were a bogus government or the instrument of any foreign country, I would not have accepted the chief magistracy."

Tells State's Genesis

"This state," he went on, "is the spontaneous creation of the Manchurian people. They were wearied and exhausted by the misrule and exploitation of predatory Chinese military leaders, so they decided to take advantage of the recent defeat of their country's oppressors by the Japanese and establish their own government."

There was complete freedom to the interview and Mr. Pu-Yi talked at length about the new state. Besides the chingcheng and the writer, only a Chinese interpreter was present.

The world's youngest chief executive—he is 27—presides over an area equal to France and Germany combined and with a population of more than 30,000,000. He receives twice as much salary as President Hoover and has a lifetime job—provided the new state endures.

Says Banditry Checked

He said his government, with the assistance of the Japanese, had checked banditry and given the people of Manchuria their first real taste of security.

He predicted that within a few years Manchoukuo would be a model state which would be emulated by other parts of China, and which would, by maintenance of the open door and fulfilling scrupulously its international obligations, automatically gain the recognition of foreign powers.

His excellency envisaged ultimately a United States of China, enjoying genuine peace, unity and progress, with Manchoukuo playing an influential role therein.

The interview took place in unpretentious surroundings, in a building on the outskirts of Changchun, which once was the headquarters of the Chinese salt administration and now is used as the executive offices. Dressed in white flannel trousers, sack coat, soft shirt and canvas shoes, the bespectacled chief executive looked more like a college youth than the head of a government.

Manchuria No Prize

The chief executive said that when Manchoukuo had demonstrated its capacity to exterminate banditry and preserve peace, order and security the Japanese army would be withdrawn.

"I don't believe for a moment," he said emphatically, "that Japan has any intention of annexing Manchuria, as part of the outside world seems to think. Manchuria, with its 30,000,000 Chinese and its vast undeveloped territories, would by sheer weight drag Japan down to economic ruin. The country would prove a second Korea, which is more liability than asset to Japan."

"The Japanese army occupies the country today merely to safeguard Japan's investments here—valued at one billion dollars—and the lives of her nationals from hostile Chinese elements."

Exhibits Meagre Food

As evidence of the alleged neglect of the welfare of the people by the Chinese warlords who ruled Manchuria prior to September 18, 1931, Mr. Pu-Yi displayed a handful of puny, withered wheat which he said was typical of what the masses had to eat.

"This would scarcely support life in a rabbit," he said, his voice breaking with emotion. "Henceforth the welfare of the masses will be the chief concern of the state."

LESS PRINTING AIDS ECONOMY

State Economizes By Reducing Publication Of Bulletins And Reports.

Governor Pinchot said today that two months before the legislature passed a resolution suggesting that departments of the state government discontinue the publication of bulletins which can be dispensed with he directed department heads to cut publications to the lowest number, size and cost. The governor issued that order May 16. Since then $83,367 has been saved in printing costs.

The department of public instruction saved $35,000 when it canceled an order for 6000 copies of "Frontier Forts", and $2500 suggested for a history of iron ore for the historical commission. Cancellation of the order to print the statutes-at-large saved $5000 for the department of property and supplies.

Elimination of fire and life insurance reports and building and loan reports saved $21,500. Condensation of the health department's "baby book" saved $700. Use of cheaper grades of paper and change in size and style of catalogues for teachers' colleges and other bulletins saved $6080 for the department of public instruction. Many other similar savings were made.

"The resolution of the legislature was right in line with the administration's own thought," said the governor, "but it was two months late."

Report of Board of Health: Although there is at this time no unusual sickness of any kind in our town, the Board of Health deem it not inexpedient to say a few words to their fellow-citizens, at the commencement of the system of sanitary regulations adopted by them.
The Reports of the Visiting Committees have been generally made and with a very few exceptions, the citizens afforded to the committees every desirable aid in the prosecution of their duties.

The Board would call the attention of their fellow-citizens to the following rules of caution, which, though long since well known, are but too often neglected.
Observe the strictest cleanliness,
both in person and dwellings.
Avoid all chances of being chilled, and whatever be the weather, do not go too lightly clad.
Abstain from sleeping with the windows open.

Avoid as much as possible ex-posure to the night air.
Large meetings for any purpose whatsoever, should not be held very early in the morning or very late at night.

Signed by order of the oBoard,
H. SMYSER, Secretary.

Married: On Thursday last, by the Rev. L. L. Hirsch, Mr. William Hurst to Miss Barbara Eby—both

On the same day, by the same,
Mr. James Miller to Miss Anna
Kraup—both of Huntington township.

A melancholy accident occurred on Wednesday evening last at the house of Isaac Wierman, Esq., in Menallen township. A female grand-daughter of Mr. Boocher, residing there, aged between 9 and 10 years, fell under the wheel of a loaded cart, which passed over her body, and occasioned her death in about two hours. She had been riding one of the oxen, by permission of the driver—and the other becoming frightened, she was precipitated to the ground and met

My son, keep thy father's commandment, and forsake not the law of thy mother:

Bind them continually upon thine heart, and tie them about thy neck.

When thou goest, it shall lead thee; when thou sleepest, it shall keep thee; and when thou awak-est, it shall talk with thee.

For the commandment is a lamp; and the law is light; and reproofs of instruction are the way of life:

To keep thee from the evil woman, from the flattery of the tongue of a strange woman.

Lust not after her beauty in thine heart; neither let her take thee with her eyelids.

For by means of a whorish woman a man is brought to a piece of bread; and the adulteress will hunt for the precious life.

Can a man take fire in his bosom, and his clothes not be burned?

Can one go upon hot coals, and his feet not be burned?

So he that goeth in to his neighbor's wife; whosoever toucheth her shall not be innocent.

Men do not despise a thief, if he steal to satisfy his soul when he is hungry;

But if he be found, he shall restore sevenfold; he shall give all the substance of his house.

But who committeth adultery with a woman lacketh understanding: he that doeth it de-stroyeth his own soul.

A wound and dishonour shall he get; and his reproach shall not be wiped away.

For jealousy is the rage of a man: therefore he will not spare in the day of vengeance.

He will not regard any ransom;
neither will he rest content,
though thou givest many gifts.

Indian War: St. Louis, Aug. 4.— Late last evening information

red in Gettysburg," says the U. S.

sudden death occurred here two weeks ago, but the attending physicians declared it not to be cholera.

BRAZIL TO MANUFACTURE
YELLOW FEVER VACCINE

Rio de Janeiro (AP)—Manufacture of a yellow fever vaccine developed by Dr. Henrique de Beaurapaire Aragao, Brazilian scientist, will be undertaken by the Brazilian health department for further experiments.

Doctor Aragao obtained the first positive results of his serum in May, 1931, but the vaccine has not yet been used for actual immunization of humans.

The Aragao serum must be used with blood of yellow fever patients, and the Brazilian scientists plan to import monkeys from Africa for this purpose, since Brazilian monkeys resist the disease.

LURKING PYTHON CAUGHT
IN HOUSE AFTER 90 DAYS

St. Louis (AP)—One of two pythons which escaped from the bathroom of a lodging house was found three months later in a resiholder tried to kick it out the back door, mistaking its coiled form in the darkness for that of a cat.

A snake-charmer and her lion-tamer husband brought the reptiles into the rooming house without the landlady's knowledge or permission.

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

THE MIND'S WORLD

NONE of us see anything exactly alike. Each mind has its own world of color, exactions, gradations, and values.

Two people will stand and be awed by a wonderful manifestation in nature or life—but neither will see in the mood and feeling what the other does. Each heart and mind will respond in a different key, for each mind has a world of its own.

Each time of life has its own special loves, when it comes to appreciating the pictures that arise before the mind. We always see most and best with our mind's eye—and the pictures last longest. Even those of early youth return again and again to us. And each day of our lives we grow richer in these pictures. In this gallery alone is the space limitless.

Guide books and the lovely pieces of literature prepared to arouse interest in the beauty spots of the world have always had fascination for me. I like to go over them and dream as I do so. Mental images arise, as I wander across the marvel places of the earth—Palestine, the Nile, the Mediterranean, South America, the Inns of England and all that poetic countryside, Mexico, Alaska, Norway and Sweden, China and Japan. Some of them I hope yet to see.

But in my mind's great gallery room are thousands of memory pictures that come to me over and over again. And it is this upon which we live so much.

Our mood at the time has so much to do with the painting of a picture in our mind. If it is a happy, responsive and appreciative mood, then that picture will live in brilliant coloring.

What a divine gift is this memory of ours. What a world this one of the mind!

put, hoping thus to stimulate bids

Tennis Prodigy, 9, Ready To Play In English Tourney

Liverpool, Eng. (AP).—Peggy Cant,
a 9-year-old tennis prodigy, is entered in a tournament here to meet girls twice her age and women who have children older than she is.

"Peggy has only been playing 15 months," according to her coach, E. J. Gillow. "She makes every stroke perfectly. She has a tennis brain and learns most of her strokes watching me tutor others.
The secret of her amazing skill is her ability to concentrate. She will spend hours by herself preparing a stroke until she has it just right."

Gillow thinks she will be a world champion if properly handled. She does her best work in tournament play before a gallery.

MANY BENEFIT
IN ROAD WORK

22,500 Actually Employed On Road Work During Past Week.

The Pennsylvania department of highways employed 22,500 men on road work, during the past week, including contract and department force construction. Secretary of Highways Sam Lewis announced.

"Actually," Secretary Lewis said,
"the department's road work employed nearly 70,000 men. Thomas H. McDonald, chief of the United States bureau of public roads, is authority for the following:

"For each individual so employed the total highway expenditure provides additional indirect employment equivalent to two other persons. This does not mean only two men actually employed indirectly, since production of material and equipment and transportation may involve part time of many persons, but rather employment equivalent to full time for two other persons.

3 Million Benefit
"From this it can be seen that in the neighborhood of three million men were benefited by the 1931 road and street program. Considering families the number becomes some 10 or 12 million people. And this was largely local labor whose wages turned over and over in the community for groceries, rent, clothing, gas, and the other necessities of life.

"Construction of roads and streets and other public improvements constitute a logical method of combating unemployment, for while furnishing jobs, expenditures for such projects, bring the taxpayer the things he needs. From 80 to 90 per cent of the money so spent goes directly and indirectly to labor."

FRANCE TO CUT
INTEREST LOAD
BY CONVERSION

Method Of Converting Debts
Now Under Consideration
In Bill.

By M. K. Whiteleather

Paris (AP)—Conversion of war and subsequent loans which it is estimated will lighten the treasury burden by about $48,000,000 annually is being prepared by the French government.

Louis Germain-Martin, minister of finance, is handling the bill. He recently told the chamber of deputies that the government esteemed conversion one of the necessary elements of the attempt to plug the holes which have been costing the national treasury enormous sums.

Budget Deficit Big

Lucien Lamoureux, reporter of the chamber budget committee, believes an extra session could be called in September to authorize the act.

The government has forced through parliament a finance bill which makes a $102,000,000 stab at balancing the budget left over by the Tardieu regime. The budget deficit for 1932-33 was estimated at about $160,000,000 before the new bill was voted.

Four and one-half per cent is mentioned as a probable rate for the conversion of loans which now pay 5, 6 and 7 per cent. Seven issues are convertible, the 1915-16 war 5's, the 1920 victory 5's and 6's, two 1927 issues at 6, a 7 per cent 1927 issue and some 1928 5's.

The government is expected to allow bondholders the choice of holding what they have or taking new bonds at the lower rate.

Point to England

Financial experts have many times stated that the interest on state borrowings was too high for these days of reduced interest rates. Before the war France borrowed money for 3 and 3½ per cent.

When Great Britain announced its conversion scheme from 5 to 3½ per cent, the Herriot government felt it could safely point to its neighbor across the channel as an example of what should be done.

France converted its war loan after 1870. Others were reduced in 1894 and 1902.

State Senator Drake Naive of Versailles, Kentucky, has not found a single plank of his store since it was washed away in a recent flood.

Urges More Care
In Auto Driving

Driving an automobile requires the undivided attention of the person at the wheel no matter how long he or she has driven, warns the governor's committee on street and highway safety.

Non-collision accidents and collisions with fixed objects would be materially reduced if drivers would realize the necessity for complete concentration of all their faculties on the operation of their cars or trucks, the statement says. More attention to driving would result in fewer accidents and in fewer fatalities, is the conclusion.

In the prettiest pitching duel staged this season in the county league, Bricker, Gardners' hurling ace, bested Charlie Flemming, All Stars' twirler, 3-2, in a game played at Gardners Saturday afternoon.

Gettysburg collected eight blows off of Bricker while Flemming yielded one less to the victorious nine.

It was a tough game to lose and the manner in which it was lost made defeat particularly bitter. Two fly balls in the eighth frame, that should have been fielded but were allowed to fall safely, donated a pair of runs to Gardners to give them the lead after Gettysburg had held a 2-1 advantage.

Must Win All

Only a clean sweep of the remaining league games will enable the local team to stay in the chase for the second half honors and that will probably mean a tie with Arendtsville, now picked as the second half titlist.

The game was one of the fastest played in the league this season. Despite being held up for fifteen minutes in the sixth inning on account of a shower, the game was history at 4 o'clock.

Gardners tabbed the first run in the second on a double by Day and a single by Guise.

Error Helps

Gettysburg knotted the figures in the third. G. Bream was saved on a two-base miff by Guise of his fly. Roddy connected for his second straight hit to drive over Bream.

Flemming and Bricker then settled down to some air-tight pitching. The local team finally broke the ice in the sixth. Kitzmiller led off with a double. Keller was easy on a fly to right but Dickson combed a single to left to score Kitzmiller.

Gardners pulled the game out of the fire with a two run rally in the eighth. Moser made a nice run to reach Hoffman's fly but after a juggling act, dropped it. Miller raised a puny fly to right that was allowed to fall for a double. Kennedy then connected for a clean two-base hit that scored both runners. That ended the scoring for the day.

Roddy, Kitzmiller and Myers were the hitting aces.

BRITISH OFFER CLAIMS ON A. E. F.'S "TIN HATS"

London (AP).—Thirteen years after the war an American commission is sitting in London to adjust claims of 16 British inventors whose devices were used by the American army or navy.

One case concerns the tin-hats worn by the A. E. F. They were adapted from a British model, according to Lieut.-Col. Joseph McMullen, who heads the commission. Other devices involved include depth-charge throwers and mines.

H. E. Creed, of Victoria, British Columbia, won the prized gold medal of the Victoria-Saanich Inlet Anglers' association by landing a 42½-pound spring salmon.

ADMISSION 25 CENTS

FIND WALLS OF PENN'S HOUSE

Await Appropriation For Restoration Of Historic Landmark.

Definite location of the original foundations of the house at Pennsbury Manor, the Pennsylvania home of William Penn on the banks of the Delaware river twenty-five miles above Philadelphia, is announced by the State Historical commission, 250 years after, the house was built.

The commission is unable to carry out plans for restoration of the site as a memorial to the state's founder until a special appropriation is provided for the purpose, according to Dr. James N. Rule, commission chairman. It is said that present owners are prepared to donate the grounds of the manor in Falls township, Bucks county, directly across the river from Bordentown, New Jersey.

Dimensions

Foundations of the old house, showing it to have been 35x65 feet in size, were located by Donald A. Cadzow, state archaeologist, by means of excavations made by a small group of workers which included several young Quakers interested in disclosing facts of historical value in connection with Pennsbury manor. They located the four corners, two of which are under concrete walls surrounding a smaller frame house now occupying practically the same location. A third corner is located under a large tree. Foundations of a brew house, common to all large estates of the period, were found adjacent to the center house which originally was surrounded by a group of eight other out-buildings.

Investigators also located walls of a formal garden between the house and river. Terraces were separated by brick walls and steps. Tentative restoration steps call for the replacement of the garden, planting of trees, and establishment of a memorial park.

Historians say the original house was started in 1682, the year Penn landed on his first trip to his new possessions. It is said that the first house was of frame construction and later was rebuilt of brick.
